

Read about our approach to COVID-19

Home > About > What we do > Life sciences

Scientific advice

A fee based consultancy service to developers of pharmaceuticals, biopharmaceuticals, digital health technologies and diagnostics

Our scientific advice services are uniquely positioned to:

- help you develop evidence that demonstrates the value of your product
- provide detailed feedback on your evidence generation plans
- help to integrate cost-effectiveness considerations into your evidence generation plans
- provide support from the highest calibre independent experts within the NHS and academia
- give you access to the perspective of our patient experts
- help companies understand health technology assessments and the perspective of decision makers.